LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE,
BUREAU OF THE CENSUS,
Washington, D. C., February 10, 1915.

SIR:

I have the honor to transmit herewith an index to occupations.

In this index the classification is that followed in the general tables of the Thirteenth Census report on occupations with one exception. The principal designations used by the enumerators in the return of occupations are arranged first alphabetically and then in classified form, with each designation under its proper occupation or occupation group.

This index will be used by the Bureau of the Census, especially in classifying the occupations returned on death certificates, so that the occupation statistics in the vital statistics reports will be comparable with those in the Thirteenth Census report on occupations. The index will be of use to Federal and state bureaus, and to associations, societies, institutions, etc., which desire to classify occupations in conformity with the classification followed by the Census Bureau. Its use will enable the statistician or other person, who desires to make an intensive study of any occupation or occupation group for which statistics are presented in the more condensed tables of the Thirteenth Census report on occupations, to see exactly the kind of occupational designations returned by the enumerators which were classified and reported under that occupation or occupation group.

The index was prepared by Alba M Edwards, under the supervision of William C. Hunt, chief statistician for population.

Respectfully,

Director of the Census.

TO HON. WILLIAM C. REDFIELD,
Secretary of Commerce.

INDEX TO OCCUPATIONS.

PREFACE.

The classification here presented contains 215 main occupations and occupation groups, 84 of which are subdivided, making a total of 428 separate occupations and occupation groups, as shown on pages 5-16. This classification is that followed in the general tables of the Thirteenth Census report on occupations, except Table VI, in which specific occupations were presented under each important industry or service group. The occupations and occupation groups, excepting clerical occupations, are grouped in this index under the eight general divisions into which the industrial field is divided, each occupation being classified in that part of the industrial field in which it is most commonly pursued. For example, blacksmiths, carpenters, electricians, and machinists have been classified under "Manufacturing and mechanical industries," although each of these trades is pursued in almost every industry. Clerical occupations, which can hardly be said to be more common to one general division of occupations than to another, have been classified apart. Since processes and conditions of work vary from one occupation to another, and, in the same occupation, from one industry to another, it is evident that in any combination of elementary occupations the resultant group will be less specific than were its component parts. Notwithstanding this, space and cost limits made necessary combinations of elementary occupations for most of the tables of the Thirteenth Census occupation report. The general plan of combination was to bring together all the workers in each separate important occupation without regard to the different industries in which the occupation is pursued. However, in so condensed a list it is impossible to give a separate line to each different occupation. In some cases, therefore, different occupations were combined; but the aim was to combine only those occupations which were very similar. Those occupations which are not sufficiently similar to others to be combined with them and which are not sufficiently important to be reported separately, and those occupations which mean little apart from the industries in which they are pursued were combined under a number of residuary occupation groups, such as coal mine operatives, semiskilled operatives in candy factories, etc. These residuary groups, while not strictly occupational, have a great deal of occupational significance; for, although each of them is made up of the workers in numerous occupations pursued, sometimes, in several different industries, these workers together form a group which, in many respects, is occupationally homogeneous. Since the proprietors, the officials, the supervisory persons, the clerical workers, the followers of trades, and the laborers are otherwise classified, all the persons included in each of the residuary groups shown under "Manufacturing and mechanical industries," are factory operatives belonging to the semiskilled class. In each extractive industry the nature of the returns was such that it was deemed best to combine the laborers and the semiskilled workers.

Thus, so far as practicable, the combination of elementary occupations was along occupational rather than industrial lines.

The index is here printed in two forms—alphabetical and classified. In the alphabetical index each of the 9,000 or more occupational designations of which the index is composed is preceded by a symbol indicating to which of the 428 occupations and occupation groups of the classification it belongs. In the classified index each of these occupational designations is shown under its proper occupation or occupation group, and each occupation or occupation group is preceded by its symbol.

A number of the occupation groups may be subdivided readily, if desired, by assigning to the proposed new group a symbol not assigned to any existing occupation or occupation group and by then transferring to this new symbol each occupational designation which belongs to it. The transfers of occupational designations should be made first in the classified index and then the symbol for each of these occupational designations changed in the alphabetical index.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USING THE INDEX.

Occupational designations and symbols.—Each full return of an occupation, as “Farmer—general farm,” is called an “occupational designation.” Each occupational designation is divided into two parts, the first part giving the occupation of the person and the second part the business, industry, or establishment in which the person works. Each occupational designation is represented in the index by a symbol composed of three figures. The first figure of each entire symbol indicates the general division or main class of occupations to which the particular occupation belongs; the last two figures indicate the occupation or the occupation group within the general division to which the particular occupation belongs. Thus, in the symbol for “Brakeman—steam railroad,” 5 2 9, the 5 stands for “Transportation” and the 2 9 for “Brakeman—steam railroad.” On a punch card, the figures from which the symbols are formed may be printed in three vertical columns, each column containing the figures from 0 to 9, inclusive. The figures of the first column, on such a card, indicate the different general divisions of occupations, as follows:

0—Agriculture, forestry, and animal husbandry.

1—Extraction of minerals.

5—Transportation.

6—Trade.

7—Public service.

Professional service.

8—Domestic and personal service.

9—Clerical occupations.

The figures of the second and third columns are used in combination to form the occupation part of the various symbols.

Use of dotted line.—In general, whenever a dotted line, “-----,” is used in the industry column of the alphabetical index in place of the business, industry, or establishment, the symbol given applies, regardless of what the return may be in the corresponding column of the schedule. Thus, “Actor,” “Actor—theater,” and “Actor—vaudeville,” each should be given the same symbol, “7 4 0.” In case, however, of an unusual or contradictory return, as “Artist—tontorial,” “Baker—dial,” or “Doctor—dentist,” determine the proper symbol from the evidence on the schedule.

Use of dash.—In the classified index a long dash, “-----,” centered on the page, frequently is used to mark the end of a group of allied occupations.

Use of parentheses.—The terms given in parentheses after certain occupational designations, such as “(any company),” “(any),” “(steam),” etc., usually will not be found on the schedule. They are used to explain or qualify what immediately precedes them. Thus, in the occupational designation, “Agent—insurance (any kind),” the term “(any kind)” signifies that every insurance agent is to be given the symbol “6 3 0,” although one agent may be returned on the schedule “Agent—life insurance,” another, “Agent—fire insurance,” another “Agent—marine insurance,” etc.

Use of (n. s.).—Many of the occupational designations in the index are followed by “(n. s.),” meaning not specified, as, for example, “Sewer—(n. s.),” “Employee or worker—cotton mill (n. s.),” etc. The abbreviation “(n. s.)” in such cases means that the occupation is not specified on the schedule, otherwise than as written in the index.

Use of (n. o. s.).—Certain occupational designations in the index are followed by “(n. o. s.),” meaning not otherwise specified, as, for example, “3 9 6 Bender—woodworking factory (n. o. s.).” The abbreviation “(n. o. s.)” in this case means that a bender in any woodworking factory other than those specified in the index is to be given the symbol 3 9 6.

Use of (n. e. c.).—Certain occupational designations in the index are followed by “(n. e. c.),” meaning not elsewhere classified, as, for example, “3 9 1 Operative—distillery (n. e. c.).” The abbreviation “(n. e. c.)” in this case means that every distillery operative, not elsewhere classified in the index, is to be given the symbol 3 9 1, regardless of the exact form of the return on the schedule.

Use of combinations.—For convenience, certain occupations, and certain industries or places of business, have been combined in the index. The principal combinations are:

Boat, ship, or vessel.	Lead or zinc mine.
Brick, tile, or terra-cotta factory.	Manager or superintendent.
Broom or brush factory.	Marble or stoneyard.
Butter or cheese factory.	Mineral or soda water factory.
Car or railroad shop.	Oil or gas well.
Cement or gypsum mill.	Paper or pulp mill.
Cigar or tobacco factory.	Piano or organ factory.
Clock or watch factory.	Printing or publishing company.
Dyeing or finishing mill.	Rope or cordage factory.
Electric light or power company.	Sail, awning, or tent factory.
Foreman or overseer.	Saw or planing mill.
Fruit or vegetable cannery.	Scrubber or sweeper.
Gold or silver factory.	Slaughter or packing house.
Gold or silver mine.	Sugar factory or refinery.
Hemp and jute mill.	Suit, cloak, or overall factory.
Hosiery or knitting mill.	Tinware or enamelware factory.
Lamp or lantern factory.	Wagon or carriage factory.
Lead or zinc factory.	Woolen or worsted mill.

Learn these combinations, and in classifying occupations treat each member of a combination as though it stood alone in the column.

Equivalent terms.—A separate designation is not always given in the index for each of the different ways of returning the same occupation or industry. The following is a list of equivalent terms:

Alkali factory.....	Soda factory or works.
Bicycle factory.....	}.....Iron manufactory.
Cutlery factory.....
Hardware factory.....
Machine shop.....
Sewing machine factory..
Tool factory.....	}.....Shipyard.

Office work or worker.....	Clerk.
Pickle factory.....	Fruit cannery.
Sash and door factory.....	Planing mill.
Shipbuilding company.....	Shipyard.
White lead company or factory.....	Paint factory or works.

Inverted forms.—So far as practicable, the occupational designations have been printed in the natural order. In some cases, however, the designations are printed in inverted order, as "Whistler—signals," "Dipper—chocolates," "Curer—fish," etc. Hence, if a designation is not found in the natural order, look for it in the inverted order.

Qualified occupations.—Often a separate designation is not given in the index for a form of return differing from the more common form only by having a qualifying adjective. Thus, for example, “Laborer—wire nail mill,” is not given a separate designation from “Laborer—nail mill,” and should be given the same symbol; but great care must be exercised in all such cases. For example, “Driver, logs—log camp” and “Driver, team—log camp” are distinct and separate occupations and should be given separate symbols. However, qualified returns of bosses, foremen, overseers, managers, and superintendents—as “Foreman spinner—Cotton mill”—should be treated in every case as though not qualified.

Participial forms of return.—Treat participial forms of return as though they were the noun forms. For example, “Caning—furniture factory” should be treated as though it were written “Caner—furniture factory,” “Chopping—turpentine farm” as though it were written “Chopper—turpentine farm,” “Farming—dairy farm” as though it were written “Farmer—dairy farm,” etc.

“Laborer—odd jobs,” etc.—In case a person living in an unincorporated place is returned as “Laborer—odd jobs,” “Odd jobs,” or “Working out,” give him the symbol for farm laborer, unless it is evident that he is working in a railroad gang, a lumber camp, or at some other nonagricultural work.

Children returned as farm laborers.—A farm child 16 years of age or under who is enumerated with the home family and returned as a farm laborer should be considered as working on the home farm, unless there is evidence to the contrary.

Unusual occupations for children.—Whenever a child under 16 years of age is returned as following any occupation listed in the first column below, give it the symbol for the corresponding occupation of the second column.

Butler	Servant.
Cook	Servant.
Nurse	Child's nurse.
Miner	Laborer, mine.
Blacksmith	Apprentice, blacksmith.
Brick mason	Apprentice, brick mason.
Cabinetmaker	Apprentice, cabinetmaker.
Carpenter	Apprentice, carpenter.
Draftsman	Apprentice, draftsman.
Electrician	Apprentice, electrician.
Machinist	Apprentice, machinist.
Mechanic	Apprentice, mechanic.
Plumber	Apprentice, plumber.
Printer	Apprentice, printing establishment.
Stonemason	Apprentice, stonemason.
Tinner	Apprentice, tinner or tinsmith.

Housekeeper.—In case the wife of the head of the family, or the mother of a large family of minor children, is returned as "Housekeeper," consider her not gainful, unless there is evidence that she is working out. In case an adult woman, other than the wife of the head of the family, or the mother of a large family of minor children, is returned as "Housekeeper," and there is no evidence to the contrary, give her the housekeeper symbol (8 3 3). In case a girl 18 years of age or under is returned as "Housekeeper," give her the symbol for a house servant (8 7 7) (unless there is evidence that she is simply doing housework at home, in which case consider her not gainful).

Two occupations for same person.—Whenever two occupations connected by "and" are returned for the same person, as "Farmer and agent," "Editor and lawyer," etc., treat them as though only the first-named occupation were given.

Peculiar occupations for women.—In case a woman is returned as following an occupation which is very peculiar or unusual for a woman, examine the schedule carefully to determine whether an error was made in the return, either of the sex or of the occupation.

Occupations not covered by the index.—The index covers most of the important occupational designations. However, it is not exhaustive. In case an occupational designation is not found in the alphabetical index, or is not covered by it, reference to the classified index usually will indicate to what occupation or occupation group it belongs. The proper classification of semiskilled occupations not enumerated in the index is there indicated by such lines as "Operative—cotton mill (n. e. c.)," "Operative—candy factory (n. e. c.)," etc.

Distinctions to be observed.—Be careful to distinguish between the following:

- A blast furnace or iron rolling mill and an iron manufacturing establishment;
- An iron foundry and a brass foundry;
- A railroad repair shop or roundhouse and a car shop;
- A felt hat factory and a straw hat factory;
- A tinplate mill and a tinware factory;
- A steam railroad and a street railway;
- A paper box and a wooden box factory;
- A locomotive engineer and a stationary engineer;
- A locomotive fireman and the fireman of a stationary engine;
- A wholesale and a retail merchant or dealer;
- A jeweler in a factory and a jeweler working elsewhere;
- A farm laborer working on the home farm and a farm laborer working out;
- A clerk in a store and a salesman;
- A contractor and a man working at the trade with his tools;
- A machinist and a machine tender;
- A painter of buildings, etc., and a painter in a factory;
- A shoemaker in a factory and one working in a cobbler shop;
- A dressmaker or seamstress in a factory or shop and one working elsewhere;

A practical and a trained nurse;
A child's nurse or a nursemaid and other nurses;
A paid housekeeper and a housewife in her own home;
A paid housekeeper and a servant girl;
A cook and a servant;
A laundress in a laundry and a laundress at home, in a hotel, or working out;
A proprietor and an employee.

Evidence on schedule.—In classifying an occupational return, always consider in connection with it the other information given about the person, such as the relationship to the head of the family, sex, age, whether an employer or an employee, ownership of home, etc. In case you find such a return as "Dairy business" or "Grocery business," or in case a person is returned as "Maker," "Operator," or "Manufacturer," determine from the evidence on the schedule whether the person is a proprietor or an employee and classify him accordingly. Keep a close watch for inconsistencies.

Legibility.—In editing schedules, it is very important that every symbol be written so clearly and perfectly that it will not be read wrongly by the punching or adding clerk. From the practical standpoint an illegible symbol is almost as bad an error as an incorrect one. Write the symbols clearly and legibly and on blank spaces.
